Art Unit: 1791

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuda et al generally for reasons of record as set forth in paragraph 4 of the previous action with these additional comments.

Applicant has amended claim 10 to recite that the first and second plate comprise single plates and that the second plate defines a sprue therein. However, it is respectfully submitted that these amendments do not define in a patentable way over the mold of Matsuda et al. The reference employs cavity block inserts located within the plates and it surely would have been obvious to eliminate these and make the plates as single plates without these cavity inserts. Also, while the sprue is shown as associated with the first plate in Matsuda et al, it would have been obvious to have associated it with the second plate as such represents merely a rearrangement of parts that would fulfill their same function.

2. Claims 14-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuda et al in view of Nishigaki essentially for reasons of record as set forth in paragraph 6 of the previous action and paragraph 1, supra. In essence, it is not patentably distinct—ie, does not rise to invention—to rearrange the sprue from one side of the mold of Matsuda et al to the other.

3. Claims 1-4 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuda et al in view of Nishigaki and Choi for reasons of record as set forth in paragraph 7 of the previous action and paragraph 1, supra.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

While applicant has amended the claims and the 102 has been obviated against claims 10 and 11, it is respectfully submitted that the amendments do not place the claims in condition for allowance. Modifying the structure (and method) of Matsuda et al so that the mold plates are single plates—ie, without cavity blocks—would have been obvious over Matsuda et al dependent on the heat conductivity desired for the molding surface. While Matsuda et al may have desired to use separate blocks to provide the molding surface, it surely would have been obvious to do without them. Also, the rearrangement of the sprue is submitted to be clearly within the skill level of the art.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
